Washington, DC ISBN 1-59147-252-0

In addition to the text, $10 will be collected the first evening of class. This fee is intended to cover the cost of the Critical Thinking and Creativity tests administered in this class. Please come prepared with cash, check, or money order. Checks should be made payable to “The University of Indianapolis”.

The instructor will furnish handouts and folder. This course is graded as Credit/No Credit (CR/NC) for one (1) academic credit hour. All students new to the Accelerated program must take this course in their first term.

The purpose of this course is to orient adult students to the specifics of the School for Adult Learning at the University of Indianapolis in order to facilitate students learning in an accelerated format. Any student that has not demonstrated Math or English proficiency either by prior placement testing or transferring in the appropriate credit, will be staying to take these exams on November 12th and December 3rd. The exams will begin at the end of the regular class time. Please see instructor if you are not able to stay late to take the Math and English Placement Exams.

Catalog Description: The Return to Learning New Student Experience Class is designed to help adult students develop skills and relationships that will serve them well as they pursue their degree and career goals. The course consists of a series of personal, academic, and campus success sessions designed to help students new to the Accelerated program make a successful transition to academia in a non-traditional format. The course covers topics relating to the history and philosophy of the University of Indianapolis and the School for Adult Learning, the University Learning Goals, degrees offered, academic and personal support available, diversity, prior learning assessment, and career services.

Course Outcomes:

Students will:

1. Present the philosophy of the University and the School for Adult Learning supports the learning provided.
2. Independently use the information system provided.
3. Use prior learning assessment to their advantage.
4. Present the procedures and services provided.
5. Present the University of Indianapolis Learning Goals.
6. Remember the availability of career services at the university.
7. Take, if necessary, math and English proficiency for placement in appropriate courses.
8. Take the California Critical Thinking Test and the Abbreviated Torrance Test for Adults.

Course Expectations:

Because this course meets only five times, attendance is crucial as your presence is necessary for good discussion and other in-class activities. It is expected that you turn in assignments and arrive to class on time.

Access to the internet is crucial to this course. If you do not have a computer at home, there are several open labs on campus that are open extended hours for the adult learner. Students must have created their university email account prior to this class. To do so, go to accounts.uindy.edu and follow the instructions. This can be done on any web browser from anywhere. Student will be using Blackboard and Self-Service Banner during this course.

To be successful in this class, students need to be in class and be willing to participate. Assignments need to be completed. If you are not able to attend a session, contact the instructor prior to the start of that class.

Services for Students with Disabilities:

If you have a disability that may have some impact on your work in this class and for which you may require accommodations, please inform me immediately so that your learning needs may be appropriately met. Students with a disability must register with the Services for Students with Disabilities office (SSD) in Schwitzer Center 206 (317-788-6153/ www.uindy.edu/ssd) for disability verification and for determination of reasonable academic accommodations. You are responsible for initiating arrangements for accommodations for tests and other assignments in collaboration with the SSD and the faculty.

Learning Goals: University-Wide Learning Goals

The University of Indianapolis is an AQIP accredited university, dedicated to continual quality improvement. As a part of the university, the School for Adult Learning commits to the same learning outcomes and the ongoing assessment of them. The learning outcomes are as follows:

- Social Responsibility—In the area of social and personal responsibility, students in the School for Adult Learning are responsible for their own learning, connect the ethical and socially responsible practices presented in the classroom to the worlds in which they live, and understand that their behaviors affect society. Both forms of responsibility involve moral obligation to self and community, and rely upon such virtues as honesty, self-discipline, respect, loyalty, and compassion.
- Creativity—In the area of creativity, students in the School for Adult Learning generate, appreciate, and evaluate new possibilities, alternatives, and ideas which enable them to see the world in new ways.
- Critical Thinking—In the area of critical thinking, students in the School for Adult Learning intentionally apply higher-order thinking to reach evidence-based conclusions.
- Performance—In the area of performance, students in the School for Adult Learning write, speak, compute mathematically, and are technologically literate based upon the standards established by SAL.

Note: Not every learning outcome will be emphasized in each class; however, successful students will have demonstrated all four outcomes upon completion of the SAL curriculum.
